

Employee Code of Conduct 2026 — NovaTech Pvt. Ltd.

Document ID: NT-COC-2026 | Effective: 01 January 2026 | Owner: Legal & Compliance

1. Professionalism & Workplace Behaviour

All employees are expected to maintain a high standard of professionalism, integrity, and mutual respect in all interactions.

Disruptive, abusive, harassing, or discriminatory behaviour in person or via digital communication is a violation of this policy and is grounds for disciplinary action up to and including termination.

Dress code: Business casual attire is expected on client-facing days. On internal working days, a smart casual standard applies.

Work hours: Core hours are 10:00 AM to 4:30 PM Monday through Friday. Flexible working arrangements outside these hours may be agreed with line managers.

Employees are expected to maintain confidentiality of all company and client information at all times, including after their employment ends.

2. Conflict of Interest

Employees must disclose any potential conflict of interest to their manager and HR within 5 business days of its arising.

A conflict of interest includes: holding a financial interest in a competitor, supplier, or client; or a personal relationship with a direct report, vendor contact, or recruiting candidate.

Secondary employment or freelance work for clients, competitors, or suppliers of NovaTech is prohibited without written approval from the HR Director and Legal department.

Employees may not solicit or accept gifts, hospitality, or payments from clients, vendors, or business partners that exceed INR 3,000 in aggregate value per financial year without written disclosure.

3. Anti-Bribery & Anti-Corruption

NovaTech maintains a zero-tolerance policy for bribery and corruption in all forms.

Employees must not offer, promise, give, request, or accept bribes or corrupt payments in any form, whether cash, gifts, services, travel, or other benefits.

All facilitation payments, even in jurisdictions where they may be customary, are prohibited.

Violations of this policy must be reported confidentially via the NovaTech Ethics Hotline: 1800-555-NOVA (1800-555-6682), which operates 24/7 and guarantees anonymity.

Confirmed violations will be investigated and may result in immediate termination and referral to law enforcement authorities.

4. Use of Company Resources

Company assets including laptops, mobile phones, software licences, vehicles, and office supplies are provided strictly for business purposes.

Incidental personal use of company devices is permitted provided it does not: consume excessive bandwidth, expose the company to legal liability, or interfere with work performance.

Company credit cards and expense accounts may only be used for pre-approved business expenses.

Personal deliveries, parcels, or purchases must not be made to the company's registered office address without prior approval from the Office Manager.

5. Social Media & Public Communications

Employees may not make statements on social media or in public forums that represent the official views of NovaTech without written approval from the Communications team.

Employees sharing personal opinions related to NovaTech's industry, competitors, or clients must include a clear disclaimer: 'Views are my own and do not represent NovaTech.'

Sharing confidential company information, source code, internal communications, product roadmaps, or financial data on any external platform is a serious disciplinary offence and may constitute a breach of the employee's non-disclosure agreement.

All media enquiries from journalists or press agencies must be forwarded immediately to communications@novatech.in.

6. Disciplinary Procedures

Minor violations (first offence): Written warning issued by line manager, documented in employee's HR record.

Moderate violations or repeat minor violations: Final written warning issued by HR Director with a Performance Improvement Plan (PIP) of 30–60 days.

Serious violations (fraud, harassment, data theft, physical violence, or disclosure of confidential information): Summary dismissal without notice period.

All disciplinary proceedings will be conducted in accordance with the principles of natural justice, ensuring the employee has the opportunity to present their case.

Employees have the right to appeal any disciplinary decision to the Chief People Officer within 10 working days of the decision.
